

Evangelos Delikouras, Ph.D., MBA

Evangelos has more than twenty-five years of international experience working mainly with Fortune 500 companies, including Toyota, L'Oreal, Procter& Gamble, General Mills, Barilla, Wrigley, Air Liquide, Akzo-Nobel, Ludbeck, GSK, Boehringer, Veterin, and Sony, in the areas of business process improvement, change management and resource planning.

Since 2017, he is the principal of Blurocca, a boutique management consulting and investment firm based in Princeton, New Jersey. Prior to Blurocca, he served as the senior investment officer and a partner of AFP - a financial planning and wealth management company – as well as, an investment adviser at Morgan Stanley & Co.

In addition to his work in financial services, he contributed in various roles to projects such as big data startup, retail chain expansion, export hub and mobile marketing joint venture establishment. He conducted feasibility studies and he developed and helped implement corporate restructuring and growth strategies for companies in technology, life sciences, food and consumer goods sectors.

Evangelos started his career at the European Headquarters of Procter & Gamble in Brussels as a capital projects manager. He holds a Ph.D. in chemical engineering from the University of Pennsylvania (1992), following a Diploma from National Technical University of Athens (1986). He also received an MBA from West Chester University (2010) summa cum laude.